As the year 1861 will be ever memorable on account of the most stupendous and wicked rebellion the world has ever known; and as every correct history of the country must derive its sources in a measure from the current events of the individual towns which go to make up the country, I have thought proper to select from my Daily Journal a few brief memoranda relating to Exeter, and to embody them; together with the names of our gallant soldiers; in this little brochure which I take the liberty to present as a New Year's Offering to our patriotic and worthy citizens.

[N. B. Meteorological observations were taken for the Smithsonian Institute at 7 A. M. and at 2 and 9 P. M. Only the maximum and minimum of the Barometer and Thermometer for each month are given.]

So terminates the fleeting and eventful year! Year of treason; year of lofty patriotism; year of battle, agony, death; of progress, liberty; year of tearful sowing for a golden harvest; year of God's great mercy.

"Eheu! fugaces, Posthume, Posthume, Labuntur anni;" sadly moans the Venusian bard; but under clearer light shall we not with a hero of his day, exclaim, "Forgetting those things which are behind and reaching forth unto those things which are before, I press toward the mark for the prize of the high calling of God in Christ Jesus."
